For miscellaneous expenses	500 00

The only change in the organization of the Institute, since our last report, is the election of Miss Lue M. Morley as teacher of music, in the place of Miss Gertrude McColloch. In parting with Miss McColloch the Board take pleasure in stating that the department of music was never better conducted than during her connection with the Institute.

The following is the organization for the current year: Dr. J. McWorkman, Superintendent, salary $800, and board in the Institute; Mr. Granville M. Ballard, literary teacher, $500 and board in the Institute; Miss Eliza W. Bowman, literary teacher, $300 and board in the Institute; Miss Lue M. Morley, music teacher, $300 and board in the Institute; Mrs. Juliette McWorkman, matron, $400 and board in the Institute; Mr. Milton C. Holman, teacher in work department, $500 without board in the Institute; Livingston Dunlap, M. D., $200.

The Board would respectfully call the attention of the Legislature to the necessity of making some provision for the payment of a debt due the Sinking Fund; and that your honorable body may have a full understanding of the matter, it is proper, perhaps, that we should give a succinct account of the transaction from its inception. It seems that during the years 1853 and 1854 the Board of Trustees then having charge of the Institute were compelled, in order to keep the Institute in operation, to resort to several loans from the Sinking Fund, which loans amounted in the aggregate, principal and interest, April 1st, 1855, to the sum of $21,334 15. To meet this indebtedness the Legislature, at its session in 1855, made an appropriation to pay it. In 1857 the Board again finding itself without means to keep the Institute open, and being prohibited by law from making any further loans, issued warrants upon the Treasury for $6,000, the amount remaining in the Treasury unapplied to the payment of the Sinking Fund loan, and placed it in the hands of the Superintendent to defray current expenses. On retiring from office our predecessors ordered the Superintendent to deposit with the President of the Sinking Fund $6,500 in warrants and money, as collateral security for the payment of the balance due that fund, and for which the commissioners of that fund held the note of the Trustees, which he did, taking the receipt of the proper officer for the same. The warrants thus deposited were drawn by the Secretary of the Board in favor of various creditors of the Institution, and paid by the Superintendent out of the fund which he had drawn out of the Treasury as above stated. We do not hesitate to say that our predecessors, in making these loans did what they believed was for the best interests of the Institute. In diverting the $6,000 from its legitimate purpose the Board may have exceeded their powers, but they were doubtless actuated by pure motives, believing that the Legislature would not permit them to suffer.

By reference to the minutes, under date March 31st, 1859, we find the following: "Ordered, That Morrison and Ray be allowed the sum of $1,000 for services as attorneys in defending a suit in the Marion Circuit Court, involving the title to the blocks of ground on which the Institute stands, which suit was decided in favor of the defendants at the last May term of said Court; said amount is to be paid in two years from date, or as soon as an appropriation therefor shall be made by the Legislature."

As these are the only claims against the Institute unprovided for, we would respectfully recommend that your honorable body take such steps for their adjustment as may be deemed necessary and proper.

Trustees.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the Indiana Institute for the Education of the Blind:

Gentlemen:—The year which has just closed has been marked by an unusual degree of harmony and of steady improvement in every department of the Institute.

Our pupils have made decided advancement in their literary pursuits, thereby affording the most satisfactory and substantial proof of the competency and faithfulness of their teachers.

Our school rooms have been honored during the year by hundreds of visitors, who have encouraged our efforts by the most flattering praise of the proficiency of our students.

At the close of the term we gave a public exhibition, in the presence of a respectable number of our citizens, on which occasion our pupils acquitted themselves with credit and satisfaction to the teachers and audience.

The following branches have been taught during the year: Spelling, Reading, Arithmetic, Grammar, History—Indiana and United States—Natural History, Algebra and Astronomy.

In the department of music the pupils have made the usual progress. During the term we gave several concerts of vocal and instrumental music, all of which were largely attended. One at the City of Lafayette, which was most liberally patronized by the good people of that city; and in this connection we beg leave to return our sincere thanks to the officers of the Indianapolis and Lafayette Railroad, who have on several occasions passed large numbers of the officers and pupils of this Institution over their road in a body free of charge. Our thanks are also especially due Mr. W. H. Hatcher, of Lafayette, who attended our concert at that place, and afterward generously came forward and insisted on paying our bill at one of the hotels, which he did, amounting to some twenty-five dollars. Such testimonials of kindness speak more forcibly than mere words in behalf of these gentlemen, and will not soon be forgotten by the inmates of this Institution. These concerts do much good in bringing before the public the aims and objects of the Institution, as well as the capabilities of the blind for improvement in every branch of science and literature.

The number of pupils in attendance the past year was sixty-three—being three less than was in attendance the previous term. Several who had been admitted to learn a trade, voluntarily quit the Institution at the close of the term of 1858 to commence business for themselves, and others were unable, from various causes, to return. The whole number of those who were in attendance, therefore, in 1858 and not in 1859, was eighteen, which reduced the number at the commencement of last term to forty-eight, to which add fifteen new pupils and we have the number above stated, viz: sixty-three.

Most of the pupils now in the school department are youngthere being but one or two over twenty-one years of age, and about one-half are under sixteen. Pupils who enter the Institute at an early age are more tractable, more easily governed, and hence more susceptible of mental and moral improvement than those who are admitted at a more advanced age. I am fully satisfied of the impropriety of admitting those whose habits are formed and fixed, except to learn a trade. The rule should be to admit no pupil over twenty-one, and should be rarely departed from. The influence of such pupils as have grown up without mental training or moral restraint, among younger ones is often extremely deleterious. So, too, when a pupil has been in the Institution for a series of years, and has received all the benefits that the Institution can confer, he ought, if his standing in the Institution merits it, to be honorably discharged. The longer continuance of this class of pupils in the Institution is not only disadvantageous to themselves, but they positively stand in the way of others younger than themselves. When a pupil has been a long time in the Institution he becomes careless and energyless, and often sinks into a state of lethargy which wholly unfits him for the active duties of life. His mind gradually, and imperceptibly to himself, reaches that point in which he rests in the belief that he has a permanent home in the Institution, and that he has nothing to do in this world but to simply partake of the blessings flowing from it. With this class of pupils I have had much trouble. I have recommended the discharge of many such against the better feelings of my nature, but duty to my trust and duty to the pupils themselves has been the rule of my action in all cases. As we have said in a former report, the Institution is not an Asylum for the indigent blind, but emphatically an educational establishment, and the closer the object of its founders is adhered to the greater will be the blessings to the blind, as a class. The intelligent blind boy knows what his needs are; he does not wish to be considered a pauper; he does not wish to be indulged in idleness; he does not wish to be merely pitied; he desires to be educated and qualified to take care of himself. This Indiana has nobly and magnanimously undertaken to do. Something more, however, is still requisite. After a pupil has received such an education as shall fit him for enjoyment and the pursuit of his calling, he should be put in the possession of sufficient means to start him in the world. To carry out this suggestion I would urge that an appropriation of a few hundred dollars be made by the Legislature and placed at the disposal of your honorable Board, to be applied as "an outfit to indigent graduates;" enough at least to buy his machinery and a small stock of materials. If his business should be teaching, either music or literature, then to be applied as the wisdom of the Board might direct. In addition to this it should be made the duty (which, however, would be a pleasure,) of the Superintendent to find him an eligible location, and otherwise aid him in making a beginning in life. Were this done I apprehend that very few of our pupils would fail to provide for themselves. Mr. Chapin, principal of the Pennsylvania Institution, who is high authority, says: "To start our pupils out without an 'outfit' is to render all the expense and labor bestowed upon them entirely useless, and defeat one of the great objects of the Institution." I trust the Board of Trustees will recommend the next Legislature to give this subject that consideration which I think its merits demand.

Early in the session measles made its appearance in the Institution, and as a large number of our pupils had never had the disease, our hospitals were kept crowded for several weeks; yet all recovered, and we are happy to say without the entailment that we are aware of any damage to the lungs, as is a common sequel in this disease. The knowledge of the prevalence of this epidemic detered several pupils from attending the past year.

No death has occurred in the Institution for about five years. This exemption from fatal disease we regard as remarkable, and is owing, under Providence, very much to the liberal provision that has been made by the State in the erection of a building affording, as ours does, large well ventilated dormitories, ample grounds for exercise, to our system of bathing, combined with regularity in all things—work, exercise, study, sleeping, waking and eating.

During the whole of last term the conduct of our pupils was uniformly good; better, I think, than any year before since I became connected with the Institute.

The last Legislature made a small appropriation to defray the expense of such operations upon the eyes of any of our pupils as might be thought necessary or proper; but on account of the unwillingness of the pupils themselves, as well as their parents, to have these operations performed, very little of the appropriation has been used. In view of the fact that there are several pupils now in the Institute whose blindness is the result of either congenital or acquired cataract, and whose sight might, in the opinion of our physician and other eminent medical gentlemen, be restored, thus confering upon these persons an inestimable blessing, and relieving the State of her duty to educate them, would it not be right to require all persons asking admission into the Institution to first have their eyes subjected to a critical examination by a board of competent physicians or occulists, and if, in the opinion of such board, an operation was thought advisable, then the pupil should only be admitted on condition that such operation should be performed so soon as might be thought practicable; all such operations being at the expense of the State, and if the operation proved successful the pupil should be discharged as soon as the operator might advise. If this rule was put in operation and fairly enforced I believe very many blind children would be restored to sight and usefulness.

Our buildings are now in tolerable good repair. Very little will need be expended on them for the next two years—except it may be to repair the roof and probably paint some parts of the main building, and the iron fence which surrounds the grounds.

The appropriation of three hundred dollars, made by the last Legislature, was applied to the repairing of the old heating apparatus, but after a fair trial it was abandoned and the use of stoves in all the rooms of the house resumed. In accordance with an order of the Board I have made every effort to make sale of the boilers, which were purchased for the new heating apparatus, but have been unsuccessful. It is for your honorable Board to say what further action shall be taken in relation to the completion of the new heating apparatus. A very considerable amount of money has already been expended in this behalf, in the purchase of boilers, building smoke stack and boiler house, all of which is useless without still a further expenditure for its completion. The boilers were purchased and delivered upon the grounds of the Institution several years ago. We have taken pains to protect them, as far as possible, from the effects of rust, and, although not really damaged, their sale has been somewhat impaired by exposure.

The following is an exhibit of the business of the work department for the year ending October 31, 1860:

The discrepancy between the receipts and expenditures of the work department, as shown by the statement of receipts and expenditures of your Board, is to be accounted for on the ground of a heavy purchase of materials at the close of the year, amounting to some six hundred dollars, and to the fact that a considerable amount, near two hundred dollars, is outstanding due that department.

In the female work department the following articles have been manufactured: 5 dozen sheets, 5 dozen towels, 6 dozen napkins, 5 dozen dress skirts, 2 dozen under shirts, 3 dozen hand-kerchiefs, 1 dozen drawers, 1 dozen hose, 1 dozen table mats, 5 dozen pillow cases. These articles have been manufactured for the Institute, thereby serving the double purpose of acquainting our female pupils with the use of the needle, and at the same time relieving us of the necessity of hiring the work done by a seamstress.

The following embraces a list of the newspapers and periodicals sent us gratuitously, for which the editors and proprietors have our warmest thanks: Indiana State Sentinel, New Albany Ledger, Locomotive, Herald and Era, Miami County Sentinel, Christian Record, Golden Rule, Paoli Eagle, Boone County Pioneer, Martinsville Monitor, Alton (Ill.) Courier, Central Christian Herald, Lake County Jeffersonian.

In conclusion, gentlemen, allow me to say that my connection with the Institution, for a period of four years, enables me to appreciate more highly than ever before the beneficence and wisdom of our State in founding, upon a basis as endurable as the constitution, this noble monument of benevolence, dedicated to the instruction of that class of her children who otherwise would be doomed to a fate truly deplorable, and wholly inconsistent with the enlightenment of the age.

Respectfully submitted,

J. McWORKMAN, Superintendent.
